We've adopted this vision with conviction, yet know that a strategic vision is a guide, and flexibility is key as we navigate the journey towards becoming a premier arts destination. ## What's Next: Facilities Planning in 2024

Master Plan for Facilities in 2024

In the spirit of bringing our strategic vision to life, we are diving headfirst into the development of a comprehensive master plan for facilities. This phase, intricately woven with the vision, values, and priorities identified in our strategic growth plan, will serve as the blueprint guiding the evolution of our physical space to harmonize with our programming aspirations.

The Journey Has Begun!

We're happy to report the master planning process is underway! In 2023 we cultivated relationships with experts in facilities planning, including ORB Management, who officially began managing our project at the end of our theatre season. Our commitment to honor our history is evident, as historical restoration experts are nearing the completion of a comprehensive conditions assessment of our oldest buildings. Their findings will be pivotal in guiding our decisions.

The Scope of Master Planning

The master planning process will determine the facilities required to fully support and enhance our diverse programming. This process, facilitated by ORB Management, will encompass key elements such as programming logistics, financial management, site and property considerations, and the overall facilities infrastructure needed to bring our strategic intent to fruition.

Anticipated Timeline & Ongoing Operations

While we continue to develop our vision and embark on this exciting master planning journey, we assure you that Theatre L'Homme Dieu will continue to operate seamlessly. We anticipate the master planning phase to unfold over the next 12 months, during which we will remain steadfast to our commitment to delivering exceptional artistic offerings in an environment that enhances your experiences!

Thank you for being an integral part of Theatre L'Homme Dieu's evolution. Together, let's build a future where the arts flourish, and our venue stands as a testament to creativity, community, and cultural richness.

Let the curtain rise on a new era for Theatre L'Homme Dieu—where creativity knows no bounds, and the arts become a destination for all.
